

Retiring early

Raytheon Superannuation Fund

When can you retire?

Your Normal Retirement Date is your 65th birthday. But you don't have to wait until then to retire!

At the moment, you can retire early from age 55 – though your pension would be less than at Normal Retirement Date. The Government plans to change the rules on minimum pension ages, so from 2028 you'll be able to retire from age 57.

If you're still working for the Company, you would need the consent of both the Company and the Trustee to retire before age 65.

If you're no longer working for the Company, you only need the consent of the Trustee.

Please note that it's extremely unlikely that you would be prevented from taking early retirement by the Trustee or the Company in the ordinary course of events.

How is my pension worked out if I retire early?

Your pension is worked out in the same way as if you were retiring at Normal Retirement Date (see the leaflet 'How your pension is worked out' on the 'Documents' page for details) – but based on:

- Your Pensionable Service at the time you retire, and
- Your Final Pensionable Salary at your early retirement date.

This pension is then reduced to reflect the fact that it is expected to be paid for longer.

If you joined the Scheme before 6 April 1988

If you joined the Scheme before 6 April 1988, your pension earned between the following dates would only be reduced if you take it before age 60:

- For men, between 17 May 1990 and 31 May 2006.
- For women, before 31 May 2006.

Do I have the same options at retirement?

Yes – you can choose to take some of your pension as a tax-free cash sum along with a lower annual pension, (or a dependant's pension) in the same way as you can when retiring at Normal Retirement Date.

Do I have to stop working?

No – you have the option to keep working but take your pension as well. This could be useful if you're hoping to reduce your hours to help you 'wind down' into full retirement, and it's referred to as 'flexible retirement.' You need to keep an eye on the tax implications if you do this as you pay income tax on your pension in the same way as you do on any salary you receive.

Jargon buster

Final Pensionable Salary

This is the yearly average of your highest three consecutive Pensionable Salaries in the ten years before you retire (or leave service).

Pensionable Salary

This is set each year on 1 December and is your basic salary minus an amount equal to the Basic State Pension for that year and rounded up to the nearest £10. However, for Pensionable Salaries from 1 December 2011, a cap was introduced. This means that your Pensionable Salary can't increase by more than 1% a year. There's also an overall cap on your Pensionable Salary – this increases each year and for the 2021/22 tax year is £172,800.

Pensionable Service

This is the time you spend as a contributing member of the Scheme, plus any service added as a result of a transfer into the Scheme. If you leave, retire or die part way through a month, you will be credited with service to the end of that month.

What's the process for retiring early?

If you think you'd like to retire before age 65, you should let the Scheme administrator know so that they can give you a quote for what your pension amount would be at the age you want to retire.

If you still work for Raytheon, you need to get the consent of the Company and the Trustee. You need to give at least one month's notice to HR telling them that you wish to opt out of the Scheme if you decide to go ahead with your early retirement.

If you're no longer employed by the Company you need to get the consent of the Trustee.

Please note that it's extremely unlikely that you would be prevented from taking early retirement by the Trustee or the Company in the ordinary course of events.

The retirement process is explained in our flow chart on the website - see 'Thinking about retirement'.

What about ill-health early retirement?

If you are still contributing to the Scheme and can provide medical evidence to the Trustee that you can't carry out your occupation because of a permanent physical or mental impairment, you may be able to retire before age 55. If you satisfy the criteria, your pension would be worked out as if you'd retired at Normal Retirement Date (but based on your Pensionable Salary at the time you retire).

